Metro to alert on delay of over 20 minutes to enter stations

AQI improves from severe to poor but expect a polluted Diwali

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, NOVEMBER 11

STARTING THURSDAY, Delhi Metro will use social media platforms to alert commuters of possible delays in advance if the waiting time for entering a station crosses 20 minutes.

The Delhi Metro Rail Corporation said the purpose of the updates is to help commuters plan their journeys effectively. Long queues are being observed outside many stations at a limited number of entry gates are kept open to avoid overcrowding.

"The official social media pages/handles of DMRC will post updates on the average waiting time at ten stations during peak hours in the morning (8.30 am to 10.30 am) and evening (5.30pm to 7.30 pm). This initiative is aimed at helping commuters plan their journey effectively so as to avoid long queues at entry/exit," DMRC said in a statement.

The stations covered under this initiative are Chandni Chowk, Chawri Bazaar, Patel Chowk, Rajiv Chowk, Central Secretariat, Huda City Centre, Lal Quila, Barakhamba Road, JLN Stadium and Saket.

Metro services in Delhi remained suspended between March 22 and September 6. Between September 7 and 12, services resumed in a graded manner. After a slow start, ridership has begun rising across lines. According to data shared by DMRC, the average daily line utilisation went up from 61.9,242 in September to 1,22,48,848 in October.

Most of the stations covered under the new initiative fall on the Yellow Line. Aravind

Most of the stations being covered under the new initiative fall on the Yellow Line, which, stretching between Gurgaon's Huda City Centre and Delhi's Samaypur Badli, is among Metro's busiest corridors.

"The operations staff deployed at these stations will continuously monitor the crowd at these stations during peak hours and assess the waiting time," the Metro said. "This is being started on an experimental basis and will be considered for implementation on more stations if required, on the basis of the feedback received from the commuters."

The entry into stations also takes time as commuters have to undergo thermal screening and get their luggages sprayed with bleach solution. Inside trains, passengers have to occupy alternate seats while those standing are expected to maintain a gap of one metre between them.

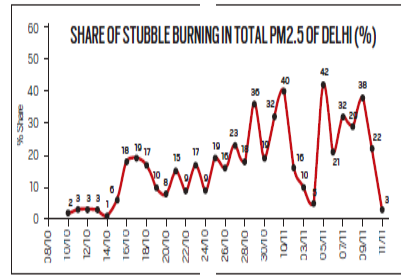

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, NOVEMBER 11

A CHANGE in wind direction brought short-lived respite from air pollution Wednesday, helping the city break its seven-day spell of severely polluted air.

The AQI value was recorded as 344, putting air quality in the very poor range. Wind direction, which had primarily been north-western, turned easterly Wednesday, which meant that pollutants because of stubble burning were not carried to the city. The direction is expected to reverse on Friday and Diwali is expected to be severely polluted.

The sudden improvement also gave a breather to the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), which was not forced to implement measures such as banning the entry of trucks, stopping construction and imposing odd-even road rationing in Delhi.

Delhi was in the severe plus air pollution category — when PM2.5 is over 300 µg/m³ — for over 48 hours Tuesday, which should have led authorities to put these measures in place under the Graded Response Action Plan. Till a couple of weeks ago, the CPCB would have announced these measures on the recommendation of the CPCB task force. However, once the Commission for Air Quality Management for Delhi-NCR was created, EPA was dissolved and the interim responsibility to impose restrictions passed on to CPCB.

On Wednesday, as the air quality started improving, the Central Pollution Control Board announced hot mix plants and stone crushers will remain closed in the region till November 17, frequency of mechanised sweeping of roads will be increased, and strict action be taken against those violating dust control norms at construction sites.

SARAR said that Wednesday's improvement was linked to particulate matter getting flushed out. Fire counts over Punjab, Haryana, UP and Uttarakhand have also been reducing over the past few days, with the estimated count at 2,422 on Tuesday.

Man held for forging ASI letter to sell Panchsheel Park property for crores

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, NOVEMBER 11

THE ECONOMIC Offences Wing (EOW) of Delhi Police has arrested a 49-year-old businessman for allegedly forging a letter by the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) to sell his property in South Delhi's Panchsheel Park in 2012.

An FIR was filed against the accused, Varun Krishan Vij, with the wanted to sell his Panchsheel Park property to maintain his lavish lifestyle. He forged the NOC of ASI in order to sell his property, which is 40.5 metres away from a protected ASI monument. The accused produced a purported letter from ASI confirming the property is situated 200.5 metres away from the protected monument.

In the 2018 FIR, the complainant, Ajay Chaudhary, a Vasant Kunj-based businessman alleged that the property is in the vicinity of a protected monument. To remove this apprehension, Vij produced a copy of an ASI letter confirming the competent authority had directed him to submit an application for construction.

In August 2012, the complainant purchased the property from Vij for Rs 21.21 crore, said Mishra. "In pursuance of this agreement, the complainant paid Rs 7.21 crore from his personal account and Rs 1.10 crore from up with excuses and did not execute the sale deed," said Mishra. Upon enquiry, the complainant found that the property was situated merely 40.5 metres from the protected monument, and the letter purportedly written by competent authority was forged and fabricated, said Mishra. He said Vij has been arrested and is on a day-long police custody remand. A case under sections of cheating and forgery was filed against Vij in the 2018 FIR.
